

Water Resources, Outer Bluegrass

Washington County in the Outer Bluegrass is blessed with an abundance of water. Cartwright Creek is one of many large streams in the county. Maintaining water quality is important for the human population and the fish and fowl that rely on the streams. Photo by Dan Carey, Kentucky Geological Survey.