

Landslide, Outwash Deposits, Bluegrass Hills

Landslide in the Devou Park area in Kenton County. The toe of the hill was undercut to put in a driveway, and with excess drainage the slope failed. Note the angle of the trees. These sand, silt, clay, and gravel deposits were laid here by glaciers over 125,000 years ago. Photo by Richard Smath, Kentucky Geological Survey.