

Calcareous Sandstone—Mountain and Creek Bottom Region

This calcareous sandstone layer exposed along Ky. 321 in Floyd County has unusually high levels of calcium carbonate rarely seen in the Mountain and Creek Bottom Region. Water dissolves the calcium carbonate to form large cavities within the rock in a process similar to the formation of caves in limestone karst regions. Photo by Dan Carey, Kentucky Geological Survey.