Road construction on slopes underlain by shale often requires additional foundation support to prevent pavement failure. Proper drainage maintenance is also essential. Photo by Dan Carey, Kentucky Geological Survey.